National Beef is recalling more than 50,000 pounds of ground beef products due to concerns that it could be tainted with E. coli.

The U.S. Agriculture Department said Wednesday that National Beef Packing Company in Liberal produced the meat.

The products carry the number “EST. 208A” inside the USDA mark. They were produced July 18 and shipped in 40 to 60 pound cases across the country.

The department says no illnesses related to the meat have been reported.

The following products are subject to recall:
