CMT Announces Randy Houser, Lee Brice, Easton Corbin, Will Hoge & The Railers to round out star-studded line-up

• Special to the Leader &Times

Manhattan – Just when you thought it couldn't get any bigger or better, the 19th annual Kicker Country Stampede announces even more artists to its all-star line-up. As announced on Saturday, Randy Houser, Lee Brice, Easton Corbin, Will Hoge and The Railers will hit the stage June 26-29 in Manhattan,, in addition to previously-announced country superstars Luke Bryan, Eric Church, Chris Young, Joe Nichols, Dustin Lynch, Thomas Rhett, Charlie Worsham, Tyler Farr, Joe Diffie, Jon Pardi, Sarah Darling, 6 Degrees West and Logan Mize.

Four-day passes are currently available for the discounted price of $120 until Feb. 28. Preferred and Premier camping are "SOLD OUT." However, a limited number of campsites are available starting at the low price of $140. Reserve them now before they're all gone. (Don't forget, patrons must purchase a four-day general admission, weekend reserved or weekend VIP ticket to enter the campgrounds.)

Complete ticket and camping package information can be found online at www.countrystampede.com or by calling 800-795-8091.

Country Stampede is an annual four-day country music and lifestyles festival presented the last full weekend in June at Tuttle Creek State Park in Manhattan, located less than an hour from Topeka and Salina and two hours from Wichita, Kansas City, Lincoln, Neb., and Omaha.

The event features multiple live stages with performances from today's biggest stars, mouth-watering vendor food, shopping, interactive exhibits, an on-site saloon, camping and much, much, more.

Follow Kicker Country Stampede on Twitter at: twitter.com/countrystampede and like them on Facebook at: facebook.com/countrystampede.