Survey says community cares most about security, safety

Public prefers sales tax over property tax increases

As a public school district, USD No. 480 belongs to the people of Liberal. That's why it makes sense to ask the community what it wants from its school, continued growth, facilities construction and expansion in the near future.

That was the reasoning behind a recent survey conducted by the Architectural Firm, DLR, and USD 480 administration. The Summer 2013 Fitness Telephone Survey was released to the public on Wednesday and was posted on the district's website where it can be viewed by the public.

The findings would match of a response to administration. Following school shootings people are concerned about the safety of their children and the dearth of preschool and daycare programs has prompted a renewed focus on school improvements and expanded preschool services.

However, the big response in the survey was for sales tax. Lakin said the necessary funds generated would be a fair chance to raise money for the
