The 2014 City of Liberal budget has included assistance funding to 11 local non-profits, according to a statement from Liberal Finance Director Chris Ford.

“It has been the practice of the City of Liberal to allocate funds to contribute to community-based programs and activities conducted by non-profit organizations which provide valuable services to the community of Liberal,” Ford noted Wednesday. “The city commission will consider all requests for funding from community-based non-profit organizations at a specified time during the regular budget process. Due to limited resources, not all requests can be funded. Therefore, it is the city commission’s intention to evaluate each proposal, and based upon available funds and the merits of each proposal, provide money or other forms of assistance to those organizations which most effectively serve the needs and improve the well being of Liberal residents.”

The funding allocated to these 11 agencies or organizations totals $158,8000 and represents

“The city commission encourages a goal of self-sufficiency for all community-based organizations seeking city funding. City funding is not intended to provide on-going funding to well-established programs or services, except where the city commission finds merit for funding consistent with the community-need philosophy,” Ford added.
