

Vendors showcase their products to a host of shoppers Saturday during the Fall Flea Market at the Southgate Mall. A number of vendors with items ranging from used household items to screen printing, jewelry, rock decorations and more were available from 27 booths. Each weekend from now until Christmas, vendors will be setting up in the Southgate Mall, and other events ranging from a craft show to Halloween events and more will also take place. New managers of the mall have announced that they will be promoting the upcoming events to help local shoppers know of the upcoming events. Anyone interested in being a vendor can contact mall manager Jacque Rice at 620-391-6004, or stop by her office at the Southgate Mall. L&T photo/Guy Rice
