

Forty individuals in the corrosion field successfully completed state-of-the-art training at the annual fall Rectifier School, conducted at Seward County Community College/Area Technical School in Liberal. Participants devoted two and one-half days to the hands-on training, hosted in partnership by the Southwest Kansas NACE Chapter, the Gas Capital Rectifier School Committee and SCCC/ATS. Courtesy photo