Heights students present Safe Dates program for local committee

LAAC-ONS program makes a difference
By Susan K. Stone

The Community Outreach Coalition, a coalition of parents, teachers, students and community members, presented the Safe Dates program to the local committee on Tuesday.

The program, which is a national effort to reduce dating violence, was presented to the committee by a group of students from the Heights High School. The students, who were part of the program, presented the program to the committee and discussed the program's goals and objectives.

The program is a national effort to reduce dating violence, which is a leading cause of injury and death among young people. The program is designed to educate young people about the dangers of dating violence and to provide them with the skills and resources they need to avoid it.
