Board plans hearing on $1.76 million budget increase

The Board of Directors of the City of Dodge is expected to hold a public hearing on a proposed budget increase of $1.76 million for fiscal year 2014. The hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m. on Monday, April 15, at the City Administration Center, 100 N. 10th St. The proposed budget increase is primarily due to the need for additional personnel and the cost of new equipment. The Board will also discuss the impact of the increase on the city's financial health and the need for additional revenue sources.

Dodge City officials grapple with statue display

City officials in Dodge are currently debating the placement of a new statue in a public square. The statue is a controversial piece of art that has sparked a heated discussion among city residents and officials. The city council is scheduled to hold a public hearing on the matter in the coming weeks. The statue is a large, abstract piece of art that is intended to represent the city's history and culture. However, some residents feel that the statue is inappropriate for a public square and that it may be a distraction from the city's other landmarks.

Authorities are still trying to identify the victims of an airplane crash in the area. The crash occurred on Monday, April 8, and the wreckage was found in a wooded area. The flight instructor was the only person on board at the time of the crash. The cause of the crash is still under investigation, and authorities are working to identify any other people who may have been on the plane. The crash is a tragedy, and the city is offering support to the family of the flight instructor.

Down town businesses setting the groundwork for organization

Local businesses in downtown Dodge are working together to form a new organization. The organization is intended to promote the area and to provide a voice for the businesses. The organization is currently in the planning stages, and a meeting is scheduled for the next week. The organization will focus on marketing and public relations efforts to attract visitors to the area and to support the local economy. The businesses are excited to be part of the organization and to see the positive impact it will have on the downtown area.
