Extension office to ask county for 4-H youth room

High Plains
DOWNLOADS

The 4-H Extension office in Summit County is asking the Board of Commissioners to purchase a building to use as a youth room for the county's 4-H youth center. The building would be located on the corner of 10th and 11th streets in the town of Steamboat Springs. The building would be approximately 1,000 square feet in size and would include a kitchen, restrooms, and a storage area. The building would be used for 4-H youth programs, including 4-H clubs, 4-H projects, and 4-H activities. The building would also be used for 4-H meetings and 4-H events. The building would be owned by the county and would be leased to the 4-H Extension office. The building would be purchased for approximately $100,000. The building would be purchased by the county in the next few months. The building would be purchased by the county in the next few months.
