Planting tips, when real spring arrives

As temperatures rise and the ground begins to thaw, it's time to start thinking about what to plant in your garden. While it's still early in the season, there are several things you can do now to get a head start on your spring garden. First, start by clearing your garden beds of any weeds or old plants. Then, you can start planting your seeds and seedlings. For more information on planting tips, visit our website at www.garden-cityschools.org.

Garden City school district community approach differs from that of Liberal

Garden City school district officials say their approach to community involvement differs from that of Liberal. The district's approach is more focused on providing a safe and secure environment for students, while Liberal's approach is more focused on providing a high-quality education.
