Garden City school district community approach differs from that of Liberal

By Bill Smith
Garden City school district officials are looking for ways to improve the district's financial health, but they are taking a different approach than Liberal school district officials, according to a report by the Garden City School District Board of Education.

The report, which was presented to the board on April 23, says that the Garden City School District is currently in a "financially sound" position, but it is not as strong as it could be. The board is looking for ways to improve the district's financial health, but it is taking a different approach than Liberal school district officials.

Planting tips, when real spring arrives

By Bill Smith
As the weather warms and the days get longer, it's time to start thinking about planting. Here are some tips to help you get started.

1. Choose the right plants for your climate zone. 2. Plant in the shade of a tree or building. 3. Water regularly. 4. Mulch around the plants. 5. Prune trees and shrubs.
