Rep. votes 'no' on bill to freeze Common Core
 Risk of returning to No Child Left Behind too high

BY MICHAEL COLLINGS
 WYOMING CITY

The House Education Committee passed a bill Tuesday that would freeze the Common Core State Standards, but the measure failed to pass the full House.

The bill, H.R. 1500, was introduced by Rep. Lou Gohmert (R-Texas) and would prohibit the federal government from using any of the money it collects from states to pay for the development or implementation of the Common Core State Standards.

The bill also would prohibit the federal government from using any of the money it collects from states to pay for the development or implementation of the Common Core State Standards.
