Rep. votes 'no' on bill to freeze Common Core
 Risk of returning to No Child Left Behind too high

BY KYLE CHAMBERS
 WYOMING CITY

The House Education Committee passed a bill today that would freeze the Common Core State Standards, but the measure failed to pass the full House.

The bill, H.R. 1585, was introduced by Rep. Lou Gohmert (R-Texas) and passed the committee by a 10-7 vote. It would prohibit the federal government from using any of the money it has collected from states to pay for the Common Core.

The bill also would prohibit the federal government from using any of the money it has collected from states to pay for the Common Core. The bill also would prohibit the federal government from using any of the money it has collected from states to pay for the Common Core.
