Developer asks for multi-year delay on wind farm

By JEFFREY HARRIS
A developer has asked the Missouri State Board of Conservation to delay for two years the construction of a 1,000-turbine wind farm in the state's southwest. The request comes as the board considers a proposal from the company to build the project in the state's southwest. The project would be the largest in the state, with a total capacity of 1,000 megawatts. The project would be built in the state's southwest, near the border with Oklahoma.
