WALK TO END ALZHEIMER'S

Drama teacher takes to the stage
Chambers moves to Wichita for full-time theater work

Local groups unite for Alzheimer's Association Walk to End Alzheimer's
Southwest Kansas residents raise funds for Alzheimer's Association care, support and research programs

When Sara Hodge, a chemistry teacher at Liberal High School, was diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease in 2008, she knew she would need to find a way to support her family and herself. She found the Alzheimer's Association and joined the local chapter. She has since become an active member and has helped to raise funds for the organization's care, support and research programs.

Chambers, who has been teaching drama at Liberal High School for 15 years, is moving to Wichita to take a full-time position at the University of Kansas. She will be teaching drama and theater arts at the university. She has been a member of the drama club at Liberal High School and has been involved in various theater productions.

Kan. court remands case of gun shop liability

TOPEKA — Kansas judges ruled on the right to life, liberty and property, and the right to keep and bear arms, in a decision that remands a case of gun shop liability. The court ruled that the state's gun shop liability law is unconstitutional because it violates the right to life, liberty and property.

Obama's remarks on race resonate with many

WASHINGTON — President Barack Obama's remarks on race resonated with many Americans, particularly African Americans, who felt that his comments were a step forward in addressing the issue of racial inequality.
