WALK TO END ALZHEIMER'S

Drama teacher takes to the stage
Chambers moves to Wichita for full-time theater work

When Sara Hodge, a drama teacher at Liberal High School, decided to leave her job to pursue a full-time career in theater, she knew she would have to move. She has now made her way to Wichita, where she will be working for the Wichita Center for the Arts. Hodge, who has been teaching drama at Liberal High for several years, will be working as a production manager at the center. She will be responsible for the day-to-day operations of the center's theater company, including casting, scheduling, and budgeting. Hodge is excited about the opportunity to work in a field that she is passionate about and to be part of a team that is dedicated to providing high-quality theater education to the community.
