Judge: Oklahoma can sue government for Obamacare

Change: Two
 A federal judge on the state of Oklahoma has ruled that the state can sue the federal government to stop the implementation of the Affordable Care Act, also known as Obamacare. The judge, Judge David B. Sentelle, ruled in favor of Oklahoma's lawsuit, which was filed in federal court in Washington, D.C. in May 2012. The ruling is a significant victory for the state and its supporters, as it allows the state to challenge the constitutionality of the law. The judge's decision is based on the fact that the law forces the state to spend money on a program that it did not agree to when it signed the law. The state argues that the law is unconstitutional because it forces the state to spend money on a program that it did not agree to when it signed the law.
