Colorado looking into synthetic pot cases, possible deaths
 DENVER (AP) — Colorado's health department is looking into whether synthetic marijuana, a drug that has become popular in the state, is linked to a rash of deaths. The department is also investigating whether the drug is causing other health problems. Synthetic marijuana is a synthetic substance that is often sold in small packets and is used in a similar way to marijuana. It has been linked to several deaths in Colorado and other states.

Numbers tell the story at tonight's USD 480 school board meeting
 The USD 480 school board meeting on Monday night will be a pivotal moment for the district. The board will be reviewing the district's financial performance and making decisions on how to address the budget deficit. The meeting is expected to be a contentious one, with many parents and community members in attendance.

Parent meeting at LHS tonight
 Lincoln High School will be holding a parent meeting on Monday night. The meeting is open to all parents and is a great opportunity for them to learn more about their child's progress and to discuss any concerns they may have. The meeting will be held in the school's gymnasium and will start at 7:00 p.m.

Hickenlooper says gun recall vote protest illegal
 Colorado Governor John Hickenlooper has said that a protest against a gun recall vote is illegal. Hickenlooper is a pro-gun Democrat who has been criticized for his stance on gun control. He has said that the protest is a violation of the state's election laws and that it is not a legitimate form of expression.
