Half cent request raises more questions
A LEADER & TIMES REPORT
By JAMES MCGUIRE
The Board of Education Tuesday asked for a half-cent increase in the local property tax rate to help pay for the new $1.1-billion World Trade Center tower. The request, which would raise the rate from 1.5 to 2.0 percent, is the highest in the county since 1997. The board will vote on the request at its meeting on Sept. 17. The rate would be 1.5 percent for the first year and 2.0 percent for the second year. The board also is asking for a 10-cent increase in the millage rate for the fire department. The board will vote on that request at the same meeting. The board also is asking for a 10-cent increase in the millage rate for the police department. The board will vote on that request at the same meeting. The board also is asking for a 10-cent increase in the millage rate for the public works department. The board will vote on that request at the same meeting.
