County tax on utilities?
By David Miles
A change in utility law may mean that the state will be able to raise utility rates. The new law, which takes effect in 2014, will allow the state to raise utility rates by up to 10 percent. This is a significant increase, especially for low-income households. The law also allows the state to raise utility rates by up to 5 percent for high-income households. This is a much smaller increase, but it still represents a significant increase for many households. The law is expected to be passed in the next few months.
