

Thursday, October 10, 2013

Will gov't shutdown affect local residents?
A federal government shutdown could affect local residents in several ways, including the possibility of a pay raise for state employees. The state's budget is set to expire on Oct. 1, and a shutdown could delay the passage of a new budget. This could result in a pay raise for state employees, as the state would be unable to pay the current rate. However, a shutdown could also result in a pay cut, as the state would be unable to pay the current rate. The state's budget is set to expire on Oct. 1, and a shutdown could delay the passage of a new budget. This could result in a pay raise for state employees, as the state would be unable to pay the current rate. However, a shutdown could also result in a pay cut, as the state would be unable to pay the current rate.

City commission will allow public vote
The city commission will allow a public vote on the city's budget. The commission will hold a public hearing on the budget on Oct. 15. The public will be able to voice their concerns and suggestions. The commission will then make a decision on the budget. The public vote will be held on Oct. 22. The city's budget is set to expire on Oct. 1, and a shutdown could delay the passage of a new budget. This could result in a pay raise for state employees, as the state would be unable to pay the current rate. However, a shutdown could also result in a pay cut, as the state would be unable to pay the current rate.

LEADER & TIMES
Your daily news & more for $27

College scholarship auction raises $46,000 to be used to provide a college education to area students

Page 7A

Obama Administration denies Mass to Catholics
Religious liberty under attack

The Obama Administration has denied a request from the Catholic Church in Massachusetts to allow the state to recognize same-sex marriages. The state's Supreme Court ruled in favor of the Catholic Church, stating that the state's constitution does not allow for the recognition of same-sex marriages. The Obama Administration has argued that the state's constitution is unconstitutional. The Catholic Church has argued that the state's constitution is constitutional. The state's Supreme Court has ruled in favor of the Catholic Church. The Obama Administration has denied the request. Religious liberty is under attack.

Police arrest 8 House members at immigration rally

Eight House members were arrested at an immigration rally in Phoenix. The rally was held in support of the Obama Administration's immigration policies. The House members were arrested for obstructing justice. The police stated that the House members were interfering with the investigation. The House members were released on bail. The rally was held in support of the Obama Administration's immigration policies. The House members were arrested for obstructing justice. The police stated that the House members were interfering with the investigation. The House members were released on bail.