Cuts cause 'unnecessary suffering, raises risk of crisis'
By MICHAEL COHEN
A lack of funding for mental health services in New Jersey is causing "unnecessary suffering" and raising the risk of crisis, says a report from the state's Department of Human Services. The report, released last week, says that the state's mental health services are "in a state of crisis" and that the state is "failing" to provide the care that people with mental health issues need. The report also says that the state's mental health services are "in a state of crisis" and that the state is "failing" to provide the care that people with mental health issues need.

2 juveniles charged in Fla. after bullied 12-year-old girl's suicide
By JAMES WATSON
WELLS RICHES, Fla. — A 12-year-old girl's suicide in Florida last week has led to the arrest of two juveniles in another state. The girl, who was bullied, had written a suicide note that mentioned the names of two other students. The police in the other state are looking for the two students, who are believed to be in the area. The girl's name is not being released because she is a minor.
