Lawyers seek dismissal of Kansas murder charge
A KANSAS judge has ordered a judge to dismiss a murder charge against a man accused of killing a woman in 2007. The judge's decision comes after the man's lawyers filed a motion to dismiss the charge, arguing that the state failed to prove its case beyond a reasonable doubt. The man, who is currently in custody, is charged with the first-degree murder of a woman in 2007. The judge's decision is a significant development in the case, as it could lead to the man's release from custody. The state's attorney has indicated that it will appeal the judge's decision.

Maybe Nov. 30 before healthcare.gov is fixed
The Obama administration says it may not be able to launch the new health care website, healthcare.gov, until after Nov. 30. The website is intended to allow people to compare health insurance plans and purchase them online. The administration has been working on the website for several months, but it has encountered several technical problems. The website is currently in a beta testing phase, and the administration is working to resolve the issues as quickly as possible. The launch of the website is a key part of the administration's health care reform efforts.

Kan. woman dies after vehicle stalls on interstate
A KANSAS woman died after her vehicle stalled on Interstate 70. The woman, who was traveling alone, was found in her vehicle on the side of the road. The cause of the accident is still under investigation. The woman's family is grieving the loss of their loved one. The incident highlights the dangers of driving on busy interstates, especially in adverse weather conditions. The Kansas Department of Transportation is working to improve safety on the interstate and to provide better assistance to motorists in need.

Food stamps, milk prices on table in farm talks
Farmers and food processors are meeting to discuss issues related to food stamps and milk prices. The meeting is part of a series of discussions between the two groups, which are often at odds over issues related to agriculture and food production. The farmers are concerned about the impact of food stamps on the market for their products, while the food processors are concerned about the impact of milk prices on their business. The meeting is expected to be a productive one, as both groups are looking for ways to find common ground and resolve their differences.
