Local Facebook post asks to adopt or buy a baby
A local Facebook post asking for help in finding a baby for adoption or purchase has sparked a heated debate in the community. The post, which was posted by a user named 'John Doe', stated that he was looking for a baby and was willing to pay a significant amount of money. The post was quickly removed by Facebook, but it had already spread to other social media platforms. The community is divided on whether such a post is appropriate and whether it could encourage illegal practices.

Lawyers seek dismissal of Kansas murder charge
A Kansas man's lawyers are seeking the dismissal of a murder charge against him. The man, who is currently in custody, was charged with the murder of a woman in a small town in Kansas. The lawyers argue that the evidence against their client is circumstantial and that there are several inconsistencies in the prosecution's case. They are requesting a pre-trial hearing to address these issues.

Maybe Nov. 30 before healthcare.gov is fixed
The Obama administration says it may not be able to launch the new health care website, healthcare.gov, until after Nov. 30. The website is intended to allow consumers to compare and purchase health insurance plans. However, the administration has encountered several technical difficulties and is working to resolve them as quickly as possible. The launch of the website is a key part of the administration's health care reform efforts.

Kan. woman dies after vehicle stalls on interstate
A Kansas woman died after her vehicle stalled on Interstate 70. The woman was driving northbound on the interstate when her car suddenly stopped. She was alone in the vehicle and was unable to get out. A passerby noticed the stalled vehicle and called 911. Emergency responders arrived at the scene and found the woman unresponsive. The cause of the accident is still under investigation.

Food stamps, milk prices on table in farm talks
Farmers and food processors are discussing the impact of food stamps and milk prices. The discussion is taking place in the context of ongoing negotiations between the two groups. Farmers are concerned about the impact of food stamps on the market for their products, while food processors are concerned about the impact of milk prices on their costs. The talks are expected to continue for some time.
