Restricting to meet population growth, shifts

By JESSIE HOLT

APPROXIMATELY 100 members of the Seward County Extension Council will meet on Monday to discuss plans to restrict the number of members on the council to meet the needs of a growing population. The meeting will be held at the Seward County Extension Council building, 303 North Kansas, from 7 to 9 p.m.

The council is currently composed of 127 members, but the number of members is expected to increase to 150 by the end of the year. The council is considering several options, including increasing the number of members and restricting the number of members to meet the needs of a growing population.

The council is also considering changes to the way members are elected. The council is currently elected by a vote of the members, but the council is considering a system where members are elected by a vote of the voters.
