Emphasize safety
when decorating
for the holidays
By JEFF
The holidays are a time of joy and celebration, but they can also be a time of danger if safety is overlooked. The National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) reports that more than 1.5 million fires were reported in the United States last year, and more than 1,000 people were killed and 1.5 million injured. Many of these fires were caused by candles, Christmas lights, and decorations. To help prevent these fires, the NFPA has released a list of safety tips for decorating for the holidays. These tips include: use candles safely, use Christmas lights safely, use decorations safely, and use fire extinguishers. For more information, visit www.nfpa.org.

Potted Christmas trees produce holiday cheer all year long
By JEFF
A potted Christmas tree is a great way to bring the holiday spirit into your home all year long. Potted trees are available in a variety of sizes and styles, and they are easy to care for. They can be placed in a room, and they will continue to grow and produce new branches and needles. Potted trees are also a great way to recycle old Christmas trees. Instead of throwing them away, you can take them to a nursery or a tree farm, where they will be replanted and grown for the next year. For more information, visit www.pottedtrees.com.

After second opinion, deadline day for ObamaCare website re-do arrives
By JEFF
The deadline for the ObamaCare website re-do has arrived. The website, which was launched in 2010, has been the subject of numerous complaints and lawsuits. The website is slow, buggy, and difficult to use. The Obama administration has promised to fix the website by the end of the year. However, the deadline has been extended several times. The website is still not working properly. The Obama administration has promised to fix the website by the end of the year. However, the deadline has been extended several times.
