Developer donates 2 school buses to Oklahoma district

This photo provided courtesy of Eric Stanwood shows a deer that was found dead on the floor of the ground after walking into a sporting goods store, Thursday in Reading, Pa. Store manager Brad Meyer said the deer walked through the front door of a Dick's Sporting Goods store in Reading, ran into a display, rebutted it to the ground, presenting any injuries to customers or damage to the store. The store called the Pennsylvania Game Commission, which arrived and removed the deer. There's no word on where the deer was released. AP photo by Stanwood.

Augusta, Me., man's toilet protest expands

David Lubbe has received a cease-and-desist order on the base of his property from the Augusta Board of Health. The board decided to reject a zoning change that would allow Lubbe's friend Dustin Tennis to build a coffee shop on Lubbe's home.
