

More boy, Trigger? No thanks. Boy, I'm stuffed!
Cubs' Matty Adams' surprise Christmas with Miqah, 9, sparks 'Mighty' night as he shares a meal. (Photo by AP/Wide World)

College names People's Choice Awards Lawyers: Pa. high paper to resume 'Redskins' ban

Manhunt intensifies for Mississippi bank robber suspected in cop's death

STILL MISSING! REWARDS $1,000 to find Sam Carl

MONDAY DECEMBER 30, 2013

LEADER & TIMES
Your daily news & views for 127 years

LOOKING FOR A PET?

Man thought to be victim of serial killer found alive

Robert Hunter was last heard from in 1975, when he told his mother he was traveling from New York to California.

His mother, Mrs. Helen Hunter, said she never saw him again. She said she was told by a friend that he had been seen in California in 1975, but she never saw him again.

Police in California are now searching for a man who is believed to be the same person as Robert Hunter. The man is believed to be a serial killer who has been active in California since the late 1970s.

The man is believed to be a white male, in his late 20s or early 30s, with short dark hair and a mustache. He is believed to be wearing a dark jacket and light-colored pants.

Anyone with information about the man's whereabouts should contact the California State Police at (916) 227-3333.

Kismet home's decorations are 'TOPS'

The Kismet home that has captured the public imagination of the annual Christmas Lighting Contest. The home, 3600 S. Ocean Blvd., is the home of the late actor James Dean. The decorations are a mix of traditional and modern, with a focus on lights and garlands.

DOJ enters 'knockout game' fray with hate crime charge

The Justice Department has charged a man with a hate crime in connection with a "knockout game" incident. The man, identified as [Name], is accused of attacking a victim based on their race. The incident occurred in [Location] on [Date].