Okla. gay marriage ban struck down; ruling on hold

A federal judge has struck down the Oklahoma state constitution's ban on gay marriage. The ruling is a landmark decision that challenges the constitutionality of similar laws in other states. The judge ruled that the ban violates the Equal Protection Clause of the U.S. Constitution. The ruling is currently on hold, pending an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. The decision has caused a significant amount of controversy and has led to calls for a national debate on the issue of gay marriage.
