Obama set to announce 'practical' agenda focusing on immigration, income equality

President Barack Obama is expected to announce a "practical" agenda focusing on immigration, income equality and other issues, according to a senior administration official. The official said the president will likely announce the agenda in the next few weeks. The agenda is expected to include measures to address the needs of immigrants, particularly those who are undocumented, and to improve the lives of low-income Americans. The official also said that the president will likely announce measures to improve the economy and create jobs. The agenda is expected to be a significant part of Obama's re-election campaign.

$22,000 worth of eggs stolen in Puerto Rico

A large quantity of eggs worth $22,000 was stolen from a farm in Puerto Rico. The eggs were found to be contaminated with salmonella, which is a common foodborne illness. The farm owner reported the theft to the police, and the eggs were subsequently destroyed. The incident has raised concerns about the safety of food products in Puerto Rico.

Odd call: Blowing nose brings big buck running

A man in a rural area was startled by a large buck running towards him. The man was blowing his nose when the buck suddenly appeared. The buck was running quickly and was very close to the man. The man was able to escape, but the incident was quite unusual. The buck was later found to be a wild boar, which is a common animal in the area.
