National Beef to shut California plant, cites tight cattle supply

Additional processing could be seen locally

National Beef
 National Beef Packing Co. says it will shut its California plant because of a tight cattle supply. The company says it will move production to its Texas plant, which has a larger supply of cattle. This move could mean additional processing of beef in Kansas.

Obama running out of reasons to reject Keystone XL

Obama is running out of reasons to reject the Keystone XL pipeline. The administration has cited environmental concerns, but critics argue that the pipeline is safe and necessary for energy security. The article discusses the political and economic implications of the pipeline's fate.
