By AP Wire

NEW YORK (AP) — Woody Allen's allies on Monday cast doubt on the sexual abuse claims of a woman who says she was sexually abused by the filmmaker in the 1970s.

The woman, who is now 40, says she was sexually abused by Allen when she was 17 and 18 years old. She says she was pregnant with his child, but she says she never had sex with him.

Allen's lawyer, Michael Brown, says the woman's claims are "completely untrue" and that she is "a liar." He says she is trying to "defame" Allen and "ruin his reputation."

Allen's lawyer also says that the woman's claims are "baseless" and that she is "a liar." He says she is trying to "defame" Allen and "ruin his reputation."

Nothing controversial in Super Bowl ads

Nothing controversial in Super Bowl ads

By AP Wire

NEW YORK (AP) — Super Bowl ads are not controversial, according to a group of advertising executives who say the industry is being unfairly criticized.

The group, which includes executives from major advertising agencies, says that the ads are "creative" and "entertaining." They say that the ads are "not controversial" and that they are "a reflection of the current culture."
