Woody Allen's allies cast doubt on sexual abuse claims

Woody Allen's allies cast doubt on sexual abuse claims

By Michael Ochs

NEW YORK (AP) — Woody Allen's allies on Monday cast doubt on the sexual abuse claims of a woman who says she was sexually abused by the filmmaker in the 1970s.

The woman, who is now 40, says she was sexually abused by Allen when she was 13 years old. She says she was sexually abused by Allen for several years, from 1972 to 1977.

Allen's allies, including his lawyer and several friends, say the woman's claims are unfounded. They say she is a liar and that she is trying to ruin Allen's reputation.

Allen's lawyer, Michael Ochs, says the woman's claims are "completely untrue." He says she is a "liar" and that she is "trying to ruin Woody's reputation."

Nothing controversial in Super Bowl ads

Nothing controversial in Super Bowl ads

By Michael Ochs

NEW YORK (AP) — Super Bowl ads featuring a dog and a hand were not controversial, according to a report from the National Advertising Review Council.

The report says that the ads, which featured a dog looking up at a hand, were "not controversial" and that they were "in line with the standards of the industry."

The report also says that the ads were "not offensive" and that they were "in line with the standards of the industry."
