Woody Allen's allies cast doubt on sexual abuse claims

Woody Allen's allies cast doubt on sexual abuse claims

NEW YORK (AP) — Woody Allen's allies on Monday cast doubt on the sexual abuse claims of a woman who says she was sexually abused by the filmmaker in the 1970s.

The woman, who is now 40, says she was sexually abused by Allen when she was 13 years old. She says she was sexually abused by Allen for several years, from 1972 to 1977.

Allen's allies, including his lawyer and several friends, say the woman's claims are unfounded. They say she is a liar and that she is trying to ruin Allen's reputation.

Allen's lawyer, Robert M. Weisbach, says the woman's claims are "completely untrue." He says she is a "liar" and that she is "trying to ruin Woody's reputation."

Allen's friends, including his ex-wife, Soon-Yi Park, also say the woman's claims are unfounded. They say she is a "liar" and that she is "trying to ruin Woody's reputation."

The woman's claims have caused a major scandal for Allen. He has been accused of sexual abuse by several other women in the past. He has also been accused of incest with his adopted daughter, Dylan Farrow.

Allen has always denied the allegations. He says he is a "good man" and that he is "not a predator."

Nothing controversial in Super Bowl ads

Nothing controversial in Super Bowl ads

NEW YORK (AP) — Many Super Bowl ads are so controversial that they are banned from the network's broadcast, but a new ad for a dog food brand is being shown during the game.

The ad, for Purina's One and Done dog food, shows a dog looking at a hand holding a bone. The ad is being shown during the Super Bowl game between the Denver Broncos and the New England Patriots.
