Snow expected all day

The National Weather Service has forecast snow for all of Tuesday and Wednesday in parts of the state.

Kansas man loses thousands in work-at-home scam

Cabin fever sets in amid relentless cold, snow

As the weather warms, and a respite from the winter weather is expected, many people are reporting cabin fever.

The Kansas State Board of Education has approved a new set of standards for the state's schools. The standards are designed to ensure that all students, regardless of their background or ability, have access to a high-quality education.

The man, who was identified as a 40-year-old resident of Lawrence, Kan., had been contacted by a woman who offered him a job as a work-at-home consultant. He was promised a large sum of money and was required to pay a fee to join the program. He lost thousands of dollars when the program turned out to be a scam.
