 Commission to establish building safety board

Kids Inc. supports school bond proposal
 1A10-10A11

Commission to establish building safety board
 A new commission will be set up to study the safety of buildings in the city. The commission will be made up of representatives from the city, the state, and the federal government. The commission will be charged with the task of identifying the most serious safety hazards in the city's buildings and recommending ways to address them. The commission will also be responsible for developing a plan to improve the safety of the city's buildings. The plan will include measures to improve the way buildings are inspected and maintained, as well as measures to improve the way buildings are designed and constructed. The commission will report its findings and recommendations to the city council by the end of the year.

Kids Inc. supports school bond proposal
 Kids Inc. is pleased to support the school bond proposal. The bond will be used to fund a variety of projects, including the construction of new classrooms, the renovation of existing classrooms, and the purchase of new equipment. The bond will also be used to fund a variety of other projects, including the construction of a new library, the renovation of the library, and the purchase of new books. Kids Inc. believes that the bond is a great way to improve the quality of the city's schools and to provide a better education for all of our children.

Another delay in health law's employer mandate

The Obama administration has announced that it will delay the employer mandate of the Affordable Care Act. The mandate requires employers with 50 or more full-time employees to provide health insurance to their employees. The administration says that it needs more time to study the impact of the mandate and to develop a plan to address the concerns of employers. The delay will give employers more time to prepare for the mandate and to explore other options for providing health insurance to their employees.
