An 11-year-old girl from Washington has become a national hero after she shot and killed a cougar that was tracking her brother. The girl, who is named Sarah, was on a hike with her brother when she saw the cougar. She was afraid and called her father for help. Her father called the police, and they sent a hunter to kill the cougar. Sarah was praised for her bravery and for saving her brother's life.

California couple in $10M gold find may owe govt about half, report says

A California couple has discovered a massive gold deposit worth $10 million. However, they may owe the government about half of the value of the find. The couple, who are named John and Jane, were on a hike when they discovered the gold. They were very excited and called the police. The police called the state geologist, who confirmed that the gold was real. The couple is now waiting for the government to decide how much they owe.

San Francisco Chronicle reports that the find is a notable event under a 100-year-old court ruling that holds a "discovery" is taxable the year it was discovered.
