Kansas man accused in guitar string decapitation

The months ahead will show whether the Oklahoma City Area Council on Education will provide alternative health care coverage or whether paperwork delays will seriously impact its health care services.

OKLAHOMA CITY — A 36-year-old Kansas man died after a guitar string decapitated him, a coroner said Monday.

Robert Charles Smith, 36, of Tulsa, was riding his motorcycle on the road near Broken Arrow when the wire snapped and struck his chest, police said.

The incident occurred on the highway near Broken Arrow on Monday.

Smith was taken to a hospital, but he died before he could be transported to a hospital.

Police said Smith had been riding his motorcycle for about 10 miles when the accident occurred.

Smith was wearing a seat belt, but it did not prevent the fatal injury.

The cause of death is being investigated by the Tulsa County coroner.

Smith's family is being notified of the death.

Police are looking for witnesses who saw the accident.

Anyone with information should call the Tulsa Police Department at 744-3333.
