

TASTE OF CHINA
LUNCH $5.95 • DINNER $9.95 • BRUNCH $4.95

GRAB LEGS ALL WEEKEND

SEXUAL ASSAULT

Sexual assault a growing epidemic

GROWING TOGETHER

Community gardens cultivate more than vegetables

State aid increase lowers property tax request for bond

FRIDAY APRIL 4, 2014

LEADER & TIMES

STATE MATCHING INCREASES TO 54%

SALES TAX REMAINS AT 22%

PROPERTY TAX DECREASES TO 24%

Your Daily News & Views for $27.95

Kan. Senate passes expanded school funding plan

Senate says 'NO' to Building Common Core

By GUY LAWRENCE

SENATORS in the Kansas Senate today passed a bill that would increase state funding for public schools, but they rejected a measure to build a common core curriculum for the state.

The Senate passed a bill that would increase state funding for public schools by $1 billion over the next five years. The bill would also create a new fund for public schools to be used for a variety of purposes, including teacher salaries and classroom materials.

The Senate also rejected a measure that would have required the state to build a common core curriculum for all public schools. The measure would have required the state to develop a common core curriculum by the end of 2015 and to implement it by the end of 2017.

Senators in the Kansas Senate today passed a bill that would increase state funding for public schools, but they rejected a measure to build a common core curriculum for the state.

The measure would have required the state to develop a common core curriculum by the end of 2015 and to implement it by the end of 2017. The measure would have also required the state to fund the common core curriculum.

The Senate also passed a bill that would create a new fund for public schools to be used for a variety of purposes, including teacher salaries and classroom materials. The bill would also create a new fund for public schools to be used for a variety of purposes, including teacher salaries and classroom materials.

Water rates in Salina aimed at keeping precious commodity

By GUY LAWRENCE

SALINA CITY officials are looking for ways to keep water rates low, but they also want to make sure the city has enough money to cover the cost of maintaining and improving the city's water infrastructure.

The city council is considering a new water rate structure that would increase rates for residential users and decrease rates for commercial and industrial users. The council is also considering a new rate structure that would increase rates for all users.

The city council is also considering a new rate structure that would increase rates for all users. The council is also considering a new rate structure that would increase rates for all users.

The city council is considering a new water rate structure that would increase rates for residential users and decrease rates for commercial and industrial users. The council is also considering a new rate structure that would increase rates for all users.

The city council is also considering a new rate structure that would increase rates for all users. The council is also considering a new rate structure that would increase rates for all users.