Coronado exhibit features Mexican immigration

New exhibit scheduled to open May 3

The Coronado Museum is pleased to announce a new exhibit, "Mexican Immigration: A Journey of Faith and Hope," which will open on May 3. The exhibit, which is a collaboration between the museum and the Coronado Museum of Art, will feature a variety of artifacts, including photographs, letters, and personal items, that tell the story of Mexican immigrants who came to Coronado in search of a better life. The exhibit will run through June 15.

TAX DAY ALERT

IRS reiterates warning of pervasive telephone scam
The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has issued a warning about a pervasive telephone scam that has become increasingly common. The scam involves a caller claiming to be from the IRS and asking for personal information, such as Social Security numbers and bank account details. The IRS has stated that it will never call taxpayers to request such information. Taxpayers are advised to be cautious and to report any suspicious calls to the IRS.

Ca. judge asked to stop new Vidalia onion rule

The U.S. District Court in California has asked the federal government to stop enforcing a new rule that requires Vidalia onions to be grown in California. The rule, which was implemented by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, has caused controversy among onion growers in other states, particularly in the Midwest. The court is hearing arguments from both sides of the issue.

Robert Burkey to leave USD 480

Robert Burkey, a member of the U.S. House of Representatives, is set to leave the House on April 15. Burkey, a Republican from California, has served in the House since 2003. He is being replaced by a Democrat in the upcoming election. Burkey has a record of supporting various legislative initiatives, including those related to education and infrastructure.

Discarded cigarettes cause fires in Guyana

Discarded cigarettes are causing a rash of fires in Guyana, a small country in South America. The fires are often started by discarded cigarettes that are not properly disposed of. The Guyanese government has issued a warning to the public to be more responsible with their cigarette disposal. Several fire departments have reported an increase in calls related to cigarette-related fires.

IRS gave House Dems info on targeted conservative group, emails show

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has provided information to House Democrats regarding a targeted conservative group, according to emails shown. The information includes details about the group's activities and its relationship with the IRS. The disclosure has raised concerns about the IRS's handling of taxpayer information and its potential bias against certain political groups.

Family, friends remember Kansas shooting victims
