Car seats save lives

By Tom Ichniowski

Car seats are the most effective way to protect children from injury or death in a motor vehicle crash. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, proper use of car seats can reduce the risk of injury to children in a crash by up to 83 percent. Parents should always use the correct car seat for their child's age, weight and height, and always use it properly. Car seats should be installed in the back seat of a vehicle, and never in the front seat. Parents should also check for recalls on their car seats and replace them if necessary.
