Kids scurry for prize Easter eggs Friday
A young girl in a striped shirt and blue pants is running in a field, chasing a small purple Easter egg. Other children are visible in the background, also participating in the egg hunt.

Carrying the Cross for Christ
A group of people is participating in a "Carrying the Cross" event. A man in a white shirt and dark pants is carrying a large wooden cross on his shoulders. Other participants are walking alongside him, some carrying smaller crosses. The event is taking place outdoors on a paved area.

Delay won't quell 2014 wrangling over Keystone XL
WASHINGTON — Despite mounting evidence that the Keystone XL pipeline will not be built, the U.S. State Department on Friday said it would not delay its decision on whether to approve the project. The decision is expected to be made in the next few weeks. The pipeline is a 1,700-mile-long oil pipeline that would cross the U.S.-Canada border and run through the heart of the U.S. Midwest. It is one of the most controversial projects in the world. The pipeline is a 1,700-mile-long oil pipeline that would cross the U.S.-Canada border and run through the heart of the U.S. Midwest.
