

You only see that the money is not the most important thing in life when you have it.
Thursday Prime Rib
#4 Village Prime • 1 lb. Bone-In, #2 • $22.95 (incl. tax)
#10 Village Prime • 1 lb. Bone-In, #2 • $22.95 (incl. tax)

Woman wounded in early Sunday morning shooting

By Sarah Hays
A woman was wounded in a shooting in Seward County on Sunday morning. The shooting occurred in the early morning hours of Sunday, May 11, in the town of Seward. The woman, who was not identified, was shot in the back and was taken to a local hospital. She is currently in stable condition. The police are currently investigating the shooting and have not yet identified any suspects.

Percent Receiving Food Stamps Use of food stamps rises in Seward County

Local authors donate to library

Page 2A
A group of local authors and librarians gathered at the Seward Public Library on Tuesday to discuss the importance of supporting local literature. The authors, including Sarah Hays and John Doe, shared their experiences and insights into the publishing industry. The library staff expressed their appreciation for the authors' donations and their commitment to providing a diverse selection of books for the community.

Kansas mom pleads no contest in 6-year-old daughter's death

A Kansas mother has pleaded no contest to the death of her 6-year-old daughter. The incident occurred in Seward County in 2010. The mother, who was not identified, was charged with first-degree murder. She has been sentenced to a term of imprisonment. The case has drawn significant attention in the community, and many people are expressing their sympathy for the family.

Seward County man dies in fire

A Seward County man died in a fire that broke out in his home on Tuesday night. The fire started in the kitchen and quickly spread throughout the house. The man, who was not identified, was found in the living room. The cause of the fire is still under investigation. The fire department responded to the scene and worked to contain the fire and remove the remains.

City to give up property for school expansion

The City of Seward is set to give up a portion of its property to the school district for a new school building. The school district has been planning to expand its facilities for several years, and this new building will provide much-needed space for students. The city officials are currently negotiating the terms of the agreement, and it is expected to be finalized in the coming months.

Coffee with a candidate:

A candidate for office is holding a 'coffee with a candidate' event. The event is open to the public and provides an opportunity for voters to meet with the candidate and ask questions. The candidate is currently running for office in Seward County and is looking for your support.

Geithner, in memoir, suggests White House asked him to bend truth on deficit

Timothy W. Geithner, former director of the Federal Reserve, suggests in his memoir that the White House asked him to bend the truth regarding the deficit. Geithner's memoir, 'The Edge of Power', details his experiences in the financial industry and his role in the Federal Reserve. He claims that he was pressured to provide misleading information to the White House in order to secure a position of power.

County to conduct special work session tonight

Seward County is scheduled to hold a special work session on Tuesday night. The session will focus on discussing the county's budget and other important issues. The public is invited to attend the session and provide input on the county's future.

Feds mum on Kansas prairie chicken law

The federal government is silent on a new law regarding the prairie chicken in Kansas. The law, which was passed by the state legislature, aims to protect the prairie chicken population and its habitat. The federal government's silence has raised concerns among conservationists and the public.

Energy savings bill fails amid election politics

A bill aimed at promoting energy savings has failed to pass in the legislature due to election politics. The bill, which would have provided incentives for energy-efficient buildings, was blocked by opposition from certain political groups. The failure of the bill highlights the challenges of passing legislation in a highly polarized environment.

LEADER & TIMES

City to give up property for school expansion
Geithner, in memoir, suggests White House asked him to bend truth on deficit

