Food safety aim of ServSafe program

By Robert Noyce
SERVSAFE

Food safety is a top priority for many businesses, and the ServSafe program is designed to help them achieve that goal. The program provides food safety training for food service workers, and is recognized by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) as the industry standard for food safety training. The program is available in both English and Spanish, and is offered in a variety of formats, including classroom, online, and mobile. The program is designed to be flexible and easy to use, and is available to businesses of all sizes. The program is designed to help businesses reduce the risk of foodborne illness, and to ensure that their food service workers are properly trained in food safety. The program is available at a cost of $100 per person, and is available to businesses in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

County is well prepared if E. coli breaks out

By Robert Noyce
