APRIL 15 - The British Supermarine Spitfire was one of the most iconic aircraft of the Second World War. It was used by the Royal Air Force and other Allied air forces during the war. The Spitfire was a single-engine, high-wing, monoplane fighter aircraft. It was designed by Roy Fedden and built by Supermarine. The Spitfire was used in a variety of roles, including fighter, fighter-bomber, and reconnaissance. It was one of the most successful fighters of the war, and it is still in service with the Royal Air Force today.
